MINNEAPOLIS — (AP) — A probate judge says Michael J. (Mike) Kelley, one time minor league baseball magnate, is incompetent to handle his estimated $500,000 estate and that Kelley's new wife is "an unscrupulous divorcee."

Judge James G. Kehoe, who yesterday declared Kelley incompetent, appointed temporary guardians for Kelley and his estate and ordered that steps be taken to have the marriage annulled.

Ceremony Rushed

Mrs. Louise McDonald Kelley, 45, married to the 75 year old Kelley Sept. 11 in a rushed ceremony, said through an attorney she may appeal the ruling to the state supreme court.

Judge Kehoe called Mrs. Kelley "an unscrupulous divorcee, with bottles of whisky to feed him (Kelley) until he dies."

The judge held that Kelley "by reason of old age, loss, deterioration and imperfection of mental faculties, and excessive drinking of alcoholic liquor over a period of many years, is mentally incompetent to have the charge and management of his person and estate."

Drinking Increases

He said Kelley "certainly needs the protection of the courts."

Kelley's latest will, made on Sept. 10, the day before his marriage to Mrs. McDonald, was introduced in testimony during the guardianship hearing. In it, Kelley left everything but two $1,000 bequests to his wife.

In a memorandum attached to his order, Judge Kehoe said Kelley's drinking gradually increased after his first wife died last February. The judge said Mrs. McDonald started to associate with Kelley early last spring, soon proposed that Kelley make a will, marry her and adopt her daughter.

When Kelley's attorney, his chauffeur and his sister, Margaret, 81, objected, "Louise proceeded to clear them all out and employ another attorney who would go along with her in the matter," Judge Kehoe said.

BACK TO LIFE — Surgeons are shown working over patient Melvin Eugene Hewitt, 26, in a hospital in El Monte, Calif., after Hewitt was injured in a fall. Hewitt, rushed to the hospital, was pronounced dead on arrival. The surgeons cut open his chest as a last resort and massaged his heart with their fingers and injected stimulants directly into it. Hewitt began to breathe and his heart started beating again after being "dead" for nearly 15 minutes. (NEA Telephoto)

Dead Man Revived But He May Have New Personality

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — Melvin Eugene Hewitt was dead, and now he is alive—but he may not be the same man he was before he spent those 15 minutes in eternity.

Doctors speculated today on the personality changes that may have taken place while the 28-year-old Navy veteran was lifeless yesterday. Hewitt fell on the sidewalk after leaving a bar early yesterday morning. Friends rushed him to a hospital in El Monte, Calif., but doctors there said he had been dead about 15 minutes.

Brain Damage Feared

Nevertheless, they operated. They cut a hole in his chest and massaged his heart until Hewitt began breathing. It was believed to be the longest period in medical history that a person has been without life and then revived. Hewitt later was transferred to the veterans hospital here. His condition remains "critical" but as his doctor says, "he's alive, and that's very satisfactory."

One of the two doctors who performed the thoracotomy said Hewitt's brain may have been damaged in the minutes it was without circulation of blood—damaged enough to change the man's entire personality.

Wife Waiting

"He may have even a complete amnesia," the doctor said. "That would mean that Hewitt, even if he recovers, would not remember any of his past life. He would truly be beginning a 'second life.'"

"As far as I know," the doctor said, "five minutes is the maximum time the brain can survive without damage. He has not regained consciousness yet. Perhaps he never will."

Police Hunting Moretti Killers

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N. J. — (AP) — Authorities moved today in a half-dozen directions to track down four killers of underworld Chatterbox Willie Moretti.

Deputy Attorney General Harry Towse said there were still no identified suspects nor a motive for the gangland slaying of the roly-poly gambler. Moretti was under subpoena to appear before a special racket grand jury next Tuesday.

Towse made the statement after quizzing Albert Anastasia, former Brooklyn mobster who denies he once headed Murder, Inc., a group of hired gunmen. Anastasia, picked up at his Fort Lee home not far from the scene of the slaying, was released after saying he could offer no clues as to who pumped two .38 calibre bullets into Moretti's head in Joe's restaurant here shortly before noon yesterday.

Petitions Asking Gas Tax Vote Get Quick Check

LANSING — (AP) — Clerks of local governments will be asked by the state board of canvassers to make a quick and brief check of petitions signed to secure a referendum on Michigan's two-month-old "one-and-a-half-cent gas tax increase."

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., said the spot check would be sought before Oct. 16 when the State Board of Canvassers will be recalled to consider the CIO's 160,000-odd signatures for a referendum.

The board recessed yesterday without making a decision on the referendum after the Michigan Good Roads federation claimed that 35 to 50 per cent of the signatures were invalid.

The challenge said thousands were not qualified and registered voters as required by law.

The CIO, sponsor of the referendum proposal, argued that it had filed so many more than the required 93,730 signatures that the federation's challenge was futile.

If the petitions are accepted by the board the gas tax increase would be suspended immediately and the issue would be placed before the voters at the next state election.

Soldiers Fleeced By Loaded Dice; Detroiters Nabbed

DETROIT — (AP) — A federal grand jury has thrown the book at six Detroiters accused of fleecing Fort Custer soldiers with loaded dice and marked cards on payday gambling spree.

The jury yesterday indicted the six on counts of entering a military reservation for an illegal purpose, possessing gambling paraphernalia on a military reservation, and gambling on military property.

The six are Rayfield Howard, Gadd S. Holland, Jesse Heavells, Edwin T. Casey, Victor Stotts and Vernel Sims. They will be arraigned in federal court here on Monday.

Government officers said the six put on military clothing to go into the camp on paydays. They had more than 50 sets of crooked dice and numerous decks of marked cards, he said.

Peephole Killer Admits Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Homicide Inspector Frank Ahern said today that Elbert Belote had admitted the "peephole" slaying of wealthy Allen B. Friedman.

Ahern said the 48-year-old mechanic broke down and confessed when confronted by witnesses who cracked his alibi that he was not in San Francisco the night of the slaying.

Belote was found Monday crouching under the bed of Friedman's estranged wife, Blanche, in a cabin north of San Francisco. Until last night he had steadfastly denied firing a small calibre bullet through the peephole of the front door of the Friedman's San Francisco home.

Friedman was found Sunday night in his locked penthouse in San Francisco's Golden Gate Heights. Lodged at the base of his skull was the fatal bullet which had entered through an eyeball.

New Uranium Fields Discovered In Chile

SANTIAO, Chile — (AP) — Two new uranium fields have been found in Chile, and the government is clamping down on their control, the government's general secretary announced last night.

The fields were found near Tambillo in Coquimbo province and in the Carrizal Alto Atacama province.

Two geologists of the U. S. atomic energy commission and a Chilean geologist made the find.

The government secretary said that it is notifying congress that it is reserving all rights including exploration and mining of all radio-active fields.

New U. S. Weapons Can Cancel Out Big Enemy, Atomic Expert Asserts

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Gordon Dean, top U. S. atomic official said today the United States has atomic weapons which can "cancel out" on the battlefield "any numerical advantage" of an enemy and that it need not hesitate or fear to use them.

Without indicating whether he had the Korean war specifically in mind, Dean said of the use of tactical atomic weapons: "I think that when a situation arises where in our carefully considered judgement the use of any kind of a weapon is justified, we are now at the place where we should give serious consideration to the use of an atomic weapon, provided it can be used effectively from the military standpoint and that it is no more destructive than is necessary to meet the particular situation in question."

The atomic energy commission chairman presented this bold new picture of American atomic power in an address prepared for a founder's day gathering at the University of Southern California.

He gave broad hints of the progress in atomic weapons, declaring: "We are entering an era where our power to wage warfare with atomic devices is so great, even in comparison with the recent past, that our fundamental concepts of what atomic warfare is and what it might mean to us must undergo revolutionary change."

Reporters Puzzled As Truman Blames Leaks On Publishers

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman left most of the Washington press corps puzzled today by blaming "newspapers and slick magazines" for what he said was disclosure of 95 per cent of the government's secrets.

Reporters had what looked on the surface like conflicting explanations for a recent presidential order extending throughout the government the same tight security regulations which have governed the defense and state departments in handling information of potential value to an enemy.

Gag On Secrets

At his news conference yesterday, the president said he signed the order after a Yale university survey, made for the Central Intelligence agency, disclosed that "newspapers and slick magazines" had published 95 per cent of the government's secrets and this was what he wanted to stop.

That recalled another news conference held by Joseph Short, Mr. Truman's press secretary, just prior to the issuance of the security information order on Sept. 25. Short was asked whether the government committee which recommended the order had discovered that "confidential, secret — that sort of information — was getting into the newspapers."

"If (the order) had nothing to do with this information getting into newspapers," Short said then. The president, in speaking of disclosure of secrets, cited magazine publication of maps showing the location of atomic energy plants and publication by newspapers all over the country of pictures of major cities with arrows pointing to key plants.

Reporters protested that the civilian defense agency had given out the matter on the big cities and that newspapers cooperated to alert the public to civilian dangers.

He didn't care who gave it out, the president said, the publishers had no business using it if they had the welfare of the country at heart. He said it was furnishing information to the Russians.

Later, Short said Mr. Truman had directed him to "clarify" the president's views. Short declared: "Citizens who receive military information for publication for responsible officials qualified to judge the relationship of such information to the national security may rightfully assume that it is safe to publish this information."

"Citizens who receive military information from sources not having the necessary responsibilities and qualifications to evaluate such information should, as loyal Americans, exercise the most careful judgment in determining the safety of publishing such information."

Short's statement did not explain how to differentiate between officials qualified to give out such information and those not qualified.

Scandal Spreading In Federal Revenue Bureau At Detroit

DETROIT — (AP) — The spreading scandals in the federal internal revenue bureau lapped out today at Michigan.

Senator Moody (D-Mich) said that Senate investigators had discovered a "number of serious irregularities" in the Detroit office.

Two agents of the bureau's Detroit intelligence unit, he said, appear to have engaged in "highly questionable activities."

He identified them as Joseph J. Weyn and Frank Cashman, and said that they had netted $1,100 each on a steel transaction in 1948.

Also mentioned in the report was Henry R. Sunball, chief of the intelligence unit.

Commission On Cadillac
Moody said he had turned over a complete report on the irregularities to John B. Dunlap, commissioner of internal revenue.

Moody, in his announcement, said that Cashman had located 100 tons of waste steel in a Hamtramck tool shop, and that Weyn told Herman Golanty, a steel dealer, about it.

Golanty, Moody said, sold the steel and paid Weyn a $2,240 finder's fee which he split with Cashman.

Weyn was quoted as saying he borrowed $2,900 from Golanty to buy a home in Dearborn, and that he took a $400 commission on the sale of the steel broker's Cadillac.

He told investigators, however, that he was a close personal friend of Golanty and Sol Eisenberg, another Detroit steel dealer.

Pugh Makes Call

The findings concerning Sunball, Moody's report said, indicated that he bought a deep freeze through Golanty in May, 1951, paying $129.78 for a model that sold at retail for $219.95 and at wholesale for $148.24.

The intelligence unit chief also obtained a new automobile by using the influence of his office, the report said.

As to the car, he said that a former internal revenue agent, Edgar W. Pugh, had merely made it possible for him to get a new car without waiting, and that "I didn't get a cent off."

Pugh, now a tax attorney, said that he knew the owner of the auto agency through whom the purchase was made, and that "I merely called him up. There was nothing more to it than that."

Allied Forces Enter Big Red Buildup Sector

Negotiated Peace Not In Sight Now

By NATE POLOWETZKY

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (AP) — Battered Chinese retreated in two sectors of the western front today as troops of nine nations pushed cautiously into a big Red buildup area in the Allies' new offensive.

An Eighth Army briefing officer mentioned gains by only two of the five Allied divisions involved in the three-day-old offensive. In both cases the Reds moved northward.

No Reply Yet

Other developments:
1. Simultaneously the quiet eastern front flared up with a slashing 1,000 yard Allied advance.

2. In the air war American pilots said they shot down one Red jet and damaged another in two swirling battles over Northern Korea involving 136 jet planes.

3. The only new cease-fire development was a statement attributed to North Korea political officers that there would be no negotiated peace in Korea in the near future. The Reds remained officially silent on Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's invitation to pick a new site for truce talks in no-man's-land.

Defenders Vanish

The Allies' western offensive, powered by 100,000 men, racked up "limited gains by those U. N. elements which are attacking," a briefing officer reported.

The bureau said the storm's center at 10:30 a. m. (EST) was about 270 miles east of Norfolk, Va., and working its way north-northeast at ten to twelve miles an hour. It was expected to pick up speed during the afternoon.

Highest winds near the center were estimated at 80 to 90 miles an hour, with gusts over 100 miles an hour. Gales extend outward to between 200 and 250 miles.

The weather bureau said ships in the hurricane's path should exercise caution. Abnormally high tides are expected from the Virginia Capes to Block Island.

Storm warnings were up from Block Island, R. I., to Portland, Me. The southern sector of this area was warned to expect winds of 35 to 40 miles an hour this afternoon and 40 to 50 miles tonight.

Michigan Dope Law Outlined

LANSING — (AP) — A stiff, new anti-narcotics law will be proposed to a legislative committee Tuesday by Senator Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit).

Ryan, chairman of the committee investigating the drug traffic, said he would submit his ideas of a new law to the committee when it meets to review data obtained at hearings in Detroit and Lansing this summer.

Ryan's bill would impose prison sentences of 20 years to life on any person selling narcotics without a license. He would impose a sentence of one year to life for unlicensed possession of narcotics and two years to life for second offenses of this type.

A sentence of one year in prison or a fine of $2,000 would be imposed on narcotics addicts under Ryan's bill.

He also would forbid anyone to possess a hypodermic needle or similar device without written permission of a physician.

The bill would cover cocaine, opium, morphine, codeine, heroin, barbituric acids and derivatives, marihuana, and drugs listed by the federal government as narcotics.

Forest Service Sells Stumpage

4½ Million Feet In Three Months

Four and one-half million board feet of timber was sold on the Hiawatha and Marquette National Forests during the months of July, August, and September of this year, it was announced in Escanaba today by C. L. Harrison, forest supervisor.

In addition to these timber products, thirty tons of cedar boughs were sold during the same period. The total value of the Forest products disposed of amounted to $47,300.00. Mr. Harrison pointed out that this volume exceeded the sales for the same months in 1950 by about one million feet. The volume of timber marketed was sold through sixty-six individual transactions. In five cases the value of the stumpage exceeded $500.00, and as required by law, were advertised and sold under sealed bids. The remaining sixty-one sales were for smaller amounts and sold direct by the Forest Rangers to local residents at appraised prices.

Manistique District High
The Manistique district was in first place with sales of one and one-half million. The other four districts followed in this order: Raco, one million; Munising, 690,000; Rapid River, 670,000; and Moran, 370,000.

Bernard Nelson of Ingalls, Michigan was the largest single purchaser. In July he was the successful bidder of a saw-log sale southwest of Forest Lake in Alger county on the Munising district. Mr. Nelson purchased 260,000 board feet of sugar maple saw-logs, 75,000 feet of yellow birch, 24,000 feet of hemlock, and 35,000 feet of beech, red maple, white pine, black cherry, ash, and elm. In addition to saw-logs the sale included one hundred sixty cords of balsam and hemlock pulpwood and three hundred cords of chemical wood.

The successful bidders on the other sealed bid sales were Arvid Nelson, Manistique, Martin Beaudre, Manistique, George Gray, Cooks, in the Manistique district, and Melvin Lippold of Stonington on the Rapid River district.

All Appraised
All timber cut on the National Forest is carefully appraised before selling to determine fair values. Forest officers designate the trees to be cut and supervise the operations of the purchasers to insure full utilization of the wood products, disposal of slash, and hold felling and skidding damage to a minimum. The volume of the sales in the Forests is controlled by the amount of timber maturing and rates of growth so that a continuing supply of timber will be available to the operators.

MESC Employees Hold Institute

Parley In Lansing This Weekend

An educational institute to help further the professional status of employees of the Michigan Employment Security commission will be sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the International Association of Public Employment Services, an employee organization of the commission, this weekend in Lansing.

The two-day "workshop" is set for October 5 and 6 in connection with the Michigan State College.

Members of the faculty of MESC will conduct forums on public relations, management development, interviewing techniques in public service, and techniques in office procedures.

Dr. William Haber, of the University of Michigan, one of the founders of the Employment Security commission, and an authority on the subject of unemployment insurance and public employment services, will be the banquet speaker at the Hotel Olds, on Saturday evening.

IAPES is a professional organization of employment security personnel. There are chapters in every state and territory of the United States. The Michigan Chapter has close to five hundred members who are all employees of the Michigan Employment Security commission. From the registrations so far this appears to be the largest Conference and Institute that the Michigan organization has every held.

Plan Campaign Against Fire

Prevention Week To Be Observed

The Escanaba fire department is planning its annual observance of fire prevention week, Oct. 7-13, and has asked local residents to cooperate in reducing the hazards of fire.

Fire prevention literature is being distributed in the schools. Local firemen will make inspections of all business places, industries, schools and churches. Inspections of homes will be made upon request.

"Built-In" Hazards
Many homes are menaced by "built-in" fire hazards. This is the warning sounded by the National Fire Protection Association.

"Built-in" is the term used by the NEPA to describe structural hazards in homes—defective chimneys and heating apparatus, combustible wood shingle roofs and faulty electrical wiring and equipment. The non-profit Fire Protection Association says its records show that approximately 10 per cent of all residential fires result from these causes.

Official records also provide the basis for this startling statement by the NEPA: Two hundred thousand homes are destroyed or damaged by fire every year because of failure to eliminate structural hazards.

The NEPA sees greater hope for the future, however, because many home owners who are preparing to remodel or make repairs can plan now to knock out the built-in hazards which otherwise might destroy them and their homes.

Safety Rules
Here are the NEPA's fire safety recommendations to include in remodeling plans:

1. The heating plant should be enclosed in masonry or some other fire-resistant wall; should stand on a concrete foundation; and the ceiling above the furnace should be covered with plaster, gypsum board or asbestos material. Make repairs promptly and clean yearly.

2. Masonry chimneys should rest solidly on the ground and be free-standing. That is, they should not lend support to or be supported by the house. The chimney should be built of solid masonry units or concrete at least four inches thick and lined with fire-clay or fire-brick. There should be separate flues for each heating device. Clean the chimney once a year.

3. Use fire-resistant roofing such as asphalt shingles. Dried, curled, combustible wood shingles are good tinder for a spark from a chimney or other source.

4. Overloaded electrical circuits are a serious hazard. Before adding a new electric range or other appliances, check the wiring to be sure it is adequate. Have plenty

Prohibits Hunting Along Lake Shore

An ordinance to prohibit the use of firearms from Sand Point to Brewery Point and for a distance of 300 yards into the water was enacted by the Escanaba city council last night, a week in advance of the opening of the duck season.

The area previously was a wild-fowl sanctuary, abandoned by the conservation department. The council's action does not reestablish the area as a sanctuary but does prohibit the firing of guns in the area.

Councilman Ed Cox, recently appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Peter Logan, attended his first meeting as a member of the council last night. He was welcomed to the council by Mayor Pro Tempore Sam Wickman. Cox paid tribute to his successor, Mr. Logan, and said that he, Mr. Cox, would do everything that he can to help make Escanaba a better community.

The council authorized the purchase of two two-ton dump trucks for the public works department and a new patrol car for the police department.

Other actions taken by the council follow:
Approved an SDD liquor license for W. J. Bisdie, Groos Drug Store, 1007 Ludington street.

Approved disability pension application for Archie Wood.

Authorized the city manager to enter into a contract with G. C. Bridges for crushing 10,000 yards of gravel at 75¢ a yard.

Received the commendation of the city planning commission for

Germany's Rural Youth Enroll In Training For Farming And Democracy

Rural youth of West Germany through membership in organizations similar to American 4-H clubs are learning the principles of democracy and the responsibility of citizenship—as well as better farming methods.

"They are learning to vote in their group, to elect their club president and other officers," said Miss Ingaborg Timmler of Bad Segelberg, Schleswig-Holstein.

Studying in Michigan as recipient of a Michigan Home Demonstration Council Scholarship, Miss Timmler arrived yesterday in Delta county and will be in the Upper Peninsula until Oct. 19.

Fear Exploitation

Her stay in Michigan will end in early March when she will leave for Germany where she teaches home economics, poultry and gardening in the state agricultural school at Bad Segelberg.

"Is there still evidence of a Hitler Youth?" she repeated an interview question. "No, I should say there is not. At least in West Germany. Our young people are cautious about joining new organizations, for they recall they were exploited in the past."

Germany has several political parties at the present time, she explained. In the past the young people were told what to do and complied.

"Now they have the opportunity to make a choice—and in the farm youth and home economics groups there is no politics. Our people like it," she declared, her blue eyes smiling.

The Small Group Plan

In East Germany under communist domination the youth have marched and demonstrated at the command of the communist party; in West Germany they are learning the fundamentals of democratic citizenship, she added.

"I will take home with me from Michigan one most important idea: The success of your agricultural extension service in reaching the small groups in a neighborhood," Miss Timmler observed. "Your organization is very good."

In Germany there would be still more advantage, for there are few automobiles, she said.

"We can do much more by getting many small groups together, rather than the big meetings we now have."

Marshall Plan Helps

Miss Timmler has taught for the past four years in the German state agricultural school at Bad Segelberg, and she expects to return there after her stay in Michigan. It is one of 17 in that province. Its students are boys of 17 and 18 and girls of 18 who seek special training in agriculture and home economics.

The Marshall Plan for European recovery has assisted in financing the construction of more schools, Miss Timmler said. Post-war Germany, largely without heavy industry, has turned to agriculture as the backbone of its economy, although farming has always been important to the nation.

Asked to compare high school programs of Germany and the United States, Miss Timmler said that in Germany the languages are stressed and sports are minimized. There are no bands in Germany's high schools.

At Cornell Meeting

Miss Timmler's stay in Michigan, financed by Home Economics clubs, has been extended from six to nine months. She has been at Michigan State College and will return there for a home economics short course.

Yesterday Miss Timmler was at Cornell, a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted McFadden, where last evening she participated in a Cornell and Hendricks Home Economics club joint meeting.

She observes after a month on farms in southern Michigan that farming is more specialized here than in Germany.

"There country farm families raise most everything for their own use," she said. "They have much larger gardens and raise enough for the family for the whole year."

"I was surprised that the American farmer's wife buys so many of the foods she uses for her family."

American Farm Life

Impressed by the smaller, more efficient kitchens in American farm homes, Miss Timmler said the German housewife "must run, run, run to get her work done." Newer kitchens in Germany are being built more on the American plan, however.

"Since coming to America I've seen for the first time in a farm home a dishwashing machine, a television set and a home freezer," Miss Timmler reported.

While Northern Michigan farms may not have television, all have electricity and the home freezer is replacing canning in food preservation.

In late November Miss Timmler will attend the National 4-H club meeting in Chicago, then return to Michigan State College for her short course before leaving in March for her homeland.

"I will bring much of what I'm learning here back to Germany," she promised earnestly.

Economic Advisory Committee Formed In Upper Peninsula

LANSING — (AP)—The state department of economic development disclosed today it is setting up its first Upper Peninsula advisory committee.

The commission said that previously it had worked through the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau of Marquette but that the bureau recently decided to devote itself exclusively to tourist promotion.

The committee will decide within six months to a year whether a permanent organization of the Lake Shore Engineering Co. of Iron Mountain will be chairman of the advisory committee and George Craig, research manager of the Calumet and Hecla

Board Requires Birth Records

Childless Husbands Subject To Call

Draft registrants who are married and who have children born since the husband registered for selective service are advised by the local draft board to submit notice of dependency to the selective service board as soon as possible.

A certified copy of the child's birth certificate is necessary in the case of children born since the registration of the father.

Under selective service regulations, a child conceived is grounds for dependency classification even though the child is unborn. In such cases, the registrant is required to provide the board with a statement from a registered physician.

The local board is now reclassifying registrants with 3-A classifications whose draft records do not indicate that the husband is also a father. Childless married men are now subject to induction under recently revised draft regulations.

Information of dependency must be submitted to the board before the registrant is called for induction. The records of approximately 10 local draft registrants fail to indicate child dependency although it is estimated that half of this number of registrants have had children born since the registration of the father.

VA Says Checks For GI Trainees May Arrive Late

Many veterans in training this fall under the GI bill will have to tide themselves over financially until at least Dec. 1, since subsistence checks may be late in coming, Guy F. Palmer, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Detroit, said today.

Everything possible is being done to keep delays to a minimum, Palmer explained. But despite all efforts, some delays are bound to occur.

Three factors, all coming at the same time, have contributed to the delays in getting subsistence checks to students, Palmer said.

First, it has been necessary to reduce the number of VA personnel who process the papers of GI students.

Second, GI bill enrollments this fall are heavier than expected.

Third, the last-minute load of applications for training that came in just ahead of the cut-off date for starting training, this past July 25, swamped VA's facilities for several weeks.

Veteran-students can help matters, Palmer said, by refraining from writing to the agency about the delay. Replies to letters take time that otherwise could be spent processing subsistence checks. He said that veterans whose checks will be delayed beyond the December 1 date—and there may be a few of these—will be notified in writing by the regional office, giving the reason for the delay and when the check may be expected.

Delay in mailing out subsistence checks will not prevent eli-

Shotgun Pellet Wounds Hunter

Spring Arbor Man Struck In Face

William Greve, 53, of Spring Arbor, Mich., sustained a minor face wound about 4 p. m. yesterday while hunting about 10 miles north of Rapid River, a first shooting accident in Delta county since opening of the small game season Oct. 1.

The pellet struck Greve in the nose. He drove his own car to Gladstone where he received treatment and was released.

The shot was fired by Ward Johnson of Rapid River, who was hunting in the vicinity of the Burch farm in Masonville township. Johnson and Greve were not in the same party and did not see each other before the accident.

Johnson fired at a grouse that flew up and one of the pellets struck Greve, who was in the opposite side of a knoll.

Newspaper Carriers Learn Sound Lessons In Business Principles

The Escanaba Daily Press is proud of its newspaper carriers. There are 88 of them, delivering approximately 8,000 copies of the Press daily. Escanaba Press carriers last year earned $25,480. ## California Requires Study Of Constitution

DURING this year's legislative session, the state of California took a step which should be followed throughout the country. The California legislature passed a law which requires that a course in the Constitution and in American history be a condition for graduation from high schools, junior colleges, state colleges, and the state university.

That requirement—coming at a time when enemies within and without the nation are bent on destroying the letter and spirit of the Constitution—is a matter of the utmost importance.

The Constitution is our first line of defense against tyranny and oppression. As Percy V. Long, a leading San Francisco attorney and author of "The Story of the Constitution" has written, "Under the Constitution the only power to govern is under 'rule of law,' securing to the individual the right to go and come and to stay; to enjoy the family relations; to pursue honest industry and innocent recreation; to exercise freedom of opinion, of worship, and of speech; and the rights of private property."

"To secure these rights governments are instituted among men," as stated in the Declaration of Independence. It was the message to the world, proclaiming the American philosophy of government."

That message was never more vital to our strength and our very survival than now. California has taken a splendid step. No young person should be allowed to graduate from school or college without a thorough understanding of those eternal, living principles upon which our nation was created.

Peron Reduces

Political Opposition

THE abortive revolt of a group of army officers against Argentina's dictator, Juan Peron, has some curious angles.

Quickly suppressed, it was perhaps the least successful rebellion in Argentine history. Only two shots were known to have been fired, and no one was hurt.

The outside world's sole knowledge of the uprising comes from official government radio accounts. At 11:10 a. m. on Friday, Sept. 28, the radio announced the revolt had begun. At 12:57 p. m. the same day, it declared the affair was ended.

Shortly after the original announcement, the Peron-dominated labor federation called a general strike to help combat the rebellion. The timing suggested advance government intelligence on rebel plans.

The government later claimed it had seized a number of rebellious officers and that there were some casualties. This last report was in direct conflict with others which insisted the shooting was inconsequential.

More than 70 Argentine officers escaped by plane to nearby Uruguay. One rebel leader among them said plans for the revolt had been considered "foolproof" but that "something went wrong."

Many observers went so far as to argue that Peron staged the whole business to elicit sympathy for himself in the current election campaign for president. More plausible were the hints that Peron knew of the planned rebellion beforehand, and may have exhorted his agents to help make sure it came off in advance of elections.

Whether or not the event actually stirs any sympathy for the Argentine dictator, it has given him certain other advantages. It has provided him with excuse to reduce his political opposition to an ineffectual minimum.

This opposition would not have been strong enough to have blocked his election. But if allowed to grow, it might have reached the point eventually where a really successful uprising could have been staged.

Here's luck to you with your home-grown radishes—if you don't mind having your tongue bitten.

New Alley

By Gordon Martin

Tin Pan Alley used to be a place where writers sang of love, and composed their tunes of mellow moans that brightly shine above. And the most of them were city guys who sang of things genteel, in producing many melodies which had a wide appeal. But along our Tin Pan Alley, there has been a sudden change, and the music men now cater to the rider of the range.

Where they used to love a harvest moon, they now have made a saint, of that faithful friend of cowboys who is sadly called Old Yank. And where once they sang of trolleys or of boating on the lake, now they write of lonesome cowpokes and their hearts that women break. If a ballad sings the glory of a twinkling western star, it was written for a booted gent who strums his big gut-tar.

If it isn't western singers, it's the billies from the hills, who stroll the boulevard, but instead is one who saddles up and does his ridin' for the public taste in music now demands the rugged west, and the song of the prairies is the one we like the best.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Several times in the past twelve months Secretary of State Acheson has told President Truman it might be expedient for him to resign. Each time the president has vigorously objected. Today, however, Acheson has changed his mind. He is planning to stay on as secretary of state for the remainder of Truman's term.

He has even talked privately to friends about joining the president in a political campaign—if the Republicans nominate Taft. Acheson says he's ready to hit every whistle stop in the country to tell the voters what Taft's election would mean to American foreign policy—especially the chaos it would bring to our Atlantic pact defenses against Communism.

Acheson's more buoyant frame of mind is due of course to the avalanche of praise resulting from San Francisco; also the fact that the American public had a chance to see him on television and realize he was an adroit master of difficult diplomatic parley, not a stuffed shirt.

The barrage of past criticism, however, has made Acheson sensitive, sometimes lonely. At the Ottawa conference, someone told him that while he may not be popular in the United States, he has 14,000,000 votes in Canada—Canada having a population of 14,000,000.

"Sometimes I think," replied the secretary of state with a touch of sadness, "that all my support comes from outside the United States."

SERVANTS OF BROTHERHOOD

It isn't always that a preacher sees his sermon bear immediate fruit. But some time ago, John L. Peters, a professor of religion at Oklahoma City university, preached a sermon at St. Luke's Methodist church which got the people of Oklahoma City so aroused that they are beating Congress in putting across one important part of U. S. Foreign policy.

"Before the war," Professor Peters told his congregation, "Kagawa, sometimes called the 'Christ of Japan,' wrote to Americans: 'Send us thousands of your sons as missionaries now or you will send us tens of thousands of them as soldiers later.' We would not do the first. We were forced to do the second."

"MacArthur invited the churches to send a thousand missionaries to Japan. It was an open door and a golden opportunity. After five years had passed, the Catholic church, to its credit, had filled its quota; the quota of the Protestant churches was substantially unfilled."

"Meanwhile Russia, upon the conclusion of her treaty with Red China, sent 45,000 'specialists' into that country."

"The irony is that while the followers of Christ are preaching the precepts of the Master, and the Voice of America is proclaiming our good intentions, the Communists move in among the masses who never saw a missionary nor heard a radio, and appear to be practicing what we preach."

"Practicing always has been more eloquent than preaching," said Professor Peters. "Actually, America is far more able and better prepared to do and do honestly what the Communists do on a more limited scale and for a limited time. But we have been shortsighted and reluctant."

Shortly thereafter Dr. Peters' congregation took him up on this. A group of them got together in Oklahoma City and decided that with Congress waffling on the Point 4 program of sending 'missionaries' to backward areas, they could lead Congress.

B. C. Clark, an Oklahoma jeweler, got together with Elmer Hedge, a dry cleaner, and with Beverly Osborne, a restaurant man, and Clarence Stipes who sells farm machinery, along with Dean McGhee, who is Senator Kerr's partner in the oil business; and together with a lot of people who liked the sermon, they raised some money, consulted experts in New York, and incorporated World Assistance, Inc.

Missionaries, as Peters pointed out, can be teachers, doctors, farmers, builders of bridges. And this Oklahoma group, organized while Congress debated, is now about to send a new kind of "combat team" to battle Communism near Vellore and Madras, India.

Note—Justice William O. Douglas, just returned from Asia, reports that this part of drought-stricken India is where Americans are disliked most.

Grandmotherly Martha Eliot Looks Part Of Children's Bureau Chief

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Dr. Martha M. Eliot, new Chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau, carries on a unique tradition in the job.

None of her predecessors had any children. Neither does she. And like all former chiefs of the bureau, the 61-year-old M.D. is a spinster.

Dr. Eliot, however, is far and away the most motherly type in the bureau. Grandmother type is probably more accurate. She's a heavy-set, buxom woman, with no concern for modish dress, make-up or such feminine frills. Her wispy, straight gray hair is parted in the middle and severely pulled back in a plain knot.

She has a kindly face, decorated only by simple, steel-rimmed glasses. Her smile is pleasant and her manner friendly.

DR. ELIOT: Plain blue dresses and hamburger joints.

She has a healthy laugh and has never been known to lose her temper. She is almost deaf but she wears a hearing aid and reads lips very well. There is little of the stern, chilly, academic social worker approach in her manner.

She and an old friend live together in a modest house in Virginia and she drives her own, slightly beat-up car to work every morning. She usually goes home with a well-filled brief case which contains enough work to keep her busy far into the night.

Her habit is to stop at some hamburger joint on the way home and grab a snack that way. Cooking doesn't interest her. Nor does shopping. Once a year she will go to her native Boston, or perhaps New York, and stock up on accessories and plain dresses—mostly shades of blue.

In spite of her motherly appearance and manner, Dr. Eliot is thoroughly and professionally qualified for her important new job. The Children's Bureau is supposed to provide national leadership in the field of child health and welfare, showing the way to the state and local agencies by making studies and giving advice. And it spends millions on direct child welfare projects.

She is one of the best known children's doctors in the country, and has served on the staffs of leading children's hospitals. Off and on she also put in 25 years in the Children's Bureau in various capacities. And she was the first woman ever to become President of the American Public Health Association.

Only Eleanor Roosevelt is better known than Dr. Eliot as a female U. S. representative to the U. N. Dr. Eliot has worked hard as a member of the World Health Organization. She was the only woman signer of the WHO constitution. This work has admittedly affected her opinion on America's children.

"When you see the terrible conditions in which most children around the world have to survive," she says, "you realize how really lucky the children of America really are. Our big job is to see that there is a proper distribution of the benefits available to the nation's children."

Her first big problem in her new post is to try to start a nationwide day-care center program for mothers going into war work. She had a hand in the success of that type of program during World War II and has something similar, with a proposed $60,000,000 budget, under way now.

Dr. Eliot comes from a distinguished Boston family known for public service and eminence in the arts and science. Her father was Dr. Christopher R. Eliot, for many years minister at the Bulfinch Place Church (Unitarian). Her brother is Frederick M. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, and her sister is Dr. Abigail Eliot, one of the foremost authorities on the education of pre-school children. T. E. Eliot, with whom she keeps in close touch, is her cousin.

Just before taking this job she had her first vacation in 22 years near a lake in Canada. She swam in the icy waters every day and lost 10 pounds chopping four cords of wood. Her philosophy about work is never to put things in a drawer.

"If you do, they are gone," she says. "Things on top must be dealt with or swept away."

Migrant Birds On Wing As Winter Moves South

Following mysterious highways in the sky, migratory birds are southbound again.

From nesting grounds far to the north, where pot-holed tundra and lonely bays already are filmed with ice, geese are flying south in great honking V's. Waterfowl, shorebirds and the myriad birds of land soon will cross U. S. skies by the billions, winging for winter haunts in southern states, Caribbean islands, Central America or beyond even to Cape Horn.

For wild ducks, geese and brant, 1951 has been a good year, the National Geographic Society says. American and Canadian wildfowl biologists found marked increases in their numbers all across the summer breeding areas. Along the great "flyways" of the United States this fall there should be larger flights of these game birds than in the last several years.

Aerial Rivers
There are four such "aerial rivers" which channel a majority of all migrating birds down across the tiers of states: the Atlantic Flyway, the Mississippi, the Central and the Pacific.

Birds probably have migrated along these routes since the end of the Ice Age. Yet men are still uncertain as to how they follow their precise schedules and paths of flight, returning year after year to the same places in north and south.

Different varieties of birds start their journeys at different times. Robins, the early birds of spring, stay north relatively late. Blue geese wing toward the salt marshes and mud flats of Louisiana, Texas and Mexico in September. Egrets and eagles, like wrongway Corrigans, often fly north instead of south in early fall until winter turns them back.

Watchers scan the night sky for some types of migrants, go out by day to see others. Often only the rustle of thousands of wings, or shadows crossing the face of the moon, reveal the passage of the warblers and vireos, thrushes and tanagers, herons and hawks and hundreds of other land birds that travel by night and feed by day. Astronomers aid ornithologists by aiming their telescopes at the moon and clocking the flights on nights of greatest movement.

World Travelers

Many birds fly tremendous distances, sometimes non-stop over thousands of miles of open ocean, returning in the spring by entirely different routes. No one yet knows how they navigate.

Small Asiatic birds, migrating between Siberia and India, cross 20,000-foot peaks of the Himalayas. The Pacific golden plover flies each fall 2,400-miles across an islandless course from Alaska to Hawaii, finding its destination unerringly.

From rendezvous over Nova Scotia, American golden plovers follow a path over the open Atlantic to South America's northeastern shoulder, often making the flight in three days and three nights. Millions of birds cross the Gulf of Mexico at its widest point enroute to Mexico, Central and South America.

Long distance champion of the bird world is the Arctic tern. Nesting as far north as there is land, on islands rimming the Arctic Sea, this voyager flies in early September across the ocean to Europe, thence down the west coast of Africa, and eventually to the fringes of Antarctica. Returning in the spring by way of South America, the globe-trotting tern puts a matter of some 22,000 miles beneath its wings in a year's travel.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

HUNTING SUCCESS—The season on ruffed grouse opened last Monday and hunters have been reporting varying degrees of success in Northern Michigan woods and fields.

One opening-day hunting party comprised three officers of the U. S. Army Air Force recruiting station at Escanaba, Capt. Warren DeLette, Capt. Clain B. Smith and Sgt. Leo Laviolette, the latter an Escanaba resident familiar with the hunting locale.

After a day in pursuit of game they returned with a total of five partridge, two sharp-tail grouse, and one rabbit.

Notable in their memory was a glimpse of a bob cat, a goose, several deer and a bear. The bear was sighted near Carroll's Corner on the return trip.

COMING HIS WAY—Another story of grouse hunting success could be told by Alvin P. "Al" Ness of 1410 18th avenue south, Escanaba, who with the Rev. Otto Steen, pastor of First Methodist church, were gunning on the opening day in the Boney Falls area.

While they were away a large partridge accommodately flew into a window at the Ness shop adjacent to his home and broke its neck. It also broke the window.

When the hunters returned from the field in the evening with the several grouse they had bagged, Mrs. Ness presented her husband with the one that had come calling for him while he was away.

COIN HUNTERS—While sportsmen are searching for grouse and sharp-tails and rabbits, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Washington, D. C., director of the U. S. Mint, is trying to flush nickels and pennies out of hiding.

Due to a number of factors, including the boarding instincts of Americans, there is a shortage of these small coins. With billions of coins issued it may be necessary for the government to coin more unless the hoarded coins get into circulation.

In states such as Michigan, where sales tax is charged, the penny is important in making change on almost every purchase. Vending machines also require coins to keep them in operation.

So break open the piggy banks and glass jars and other penny and nickel hoards and take them to the bank, where they will be channeled back into circulation.

LANGUAGES FIRST—Leaving Delta county this morning is Miss Ingeborg Timmler of Germany, home economics teacher, who is studying agricultural extension and rural youth programs in Michigan.

As a teacher, blue-eyed, 27-year-old Miss Timmler commented on the difference in high school curriculum in Germany and the United States.

High schools in West Germany stress the languages and students are taught German, French, and often one other language—and in addition take Latin and Greek.

There is little organized sports, however, and high school bands are unknown. Music loving Germans study music in the home and in groups organized outside the schools.

MAN OF NATURE—The recent death of Jens Jensen, Ellison Bay, Wis., was largely overlooked last Monday because of front page news from Korea and other international events.

Yet America is indebted to the Danish youth who, at the age of 21, came to America and within a comparatively few years had fired imaginations with his plea for naturalistic landscaping.

Decrying the "pavement mind" of the city, Jensen brought to Americans the realization that nature's beauty should be preserved. After serving as superintendent of Chicago parks, national parks commissioner, and private landscape artist, Jensen finally turned to Door county, Wisconsin, as his home in his productive later years.

He died at the age of 91, to the end a foe of those who turn from nature's inspiration and in nature can see only sticks and stones.

FRIDAY'S QUESTION BOX

Q. Why are legislators sometimes called solons, and how is the word pronounced?
A. Solon was a wise Athenian lawmaker of the sixth century B. C. Do not say "suh-LAHN." Accent the first syllable, which rhymes with "toe," thus: SOE-lun.

Q. Where did Dr. Etain Shrdlu get his name, and how is it pronounced?
A. Dr. Shrdlu is a fictitious personage, of course. He was invented for the purpose of serving as a sort of whipping boy. Etain Shrdlu is pronounced: ETT-oh-in SHRD-loo.

Actually the letters etain shrdlu are known as pi (or pie) lines. A linotype operator sets them by running his finger down the first two banks of keys on the left of the keyboard; they are used to indicate to the keyboarder that part of the copy is missing or illegible.

Q. What is the meaning of selah?
A. This Hebrew word occurs often in Psalms, but no one knows its exact meaning. It seems to indicate a pause. The pronunciation is: SEE-looh.

Q. Is frustrated a good word?
A. No; there is no such word. "Frustrated" is a dialectal combination of flustered, pronounced: FLUSS-terd, and frustrated: FRUSS-tray-td.

Q. May one properly speak of a "kennel for cats"?
A. No, since kennel is from the Latin canis, meaning "dog." Though most kennels keep both cats and dogs, the proper designation for a place which keeps cats is: cattery.

Q. A University of California student rode a teeter-totter for 53 hours and 54 minutes, a world record. The rest of us are having our ups and downs, these days, too.

The fellow who writes things on his cuff usually has something up his sleeve.

How Hubby Outfoxed Trellis Mae Peeble

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(P)—This is the tale of a marital phonograph duel by night.
Trellis Mae Peeble had been trying for years to get a new fur coat. But Wilbur, her husband, kept putting her off. He always insisted they couldn't afford it.
One day, after a fresh rebuff of this kind, Trellis Mae read a newspaper article that gave her a new and exciting idea of a way to win Wilbur over. The article told how people could memorize information subconsciously in their sleep if the message to be learned was repeated into their slumbering ears over and over again.
"I think this is going to get me my fur coat," mused Trellis Mae. "That is, if Wilbur has a subconscious mind."
And she hurried right down town and had a personal phonograph record made of the message she wanted to deliver.
When Wilbur came home that night complaining he was tired, his wife told him to go to bed early. He thought that was unusually gracious of her, but complied.
He wasn't Asleep
As soon as she heard him breathing heavily, Trellis Mae rose and lugged a portable phonograph into the bedroom. Unfortunately for her, Wilbur wasn't asleep at all. Through wary, half-closed eyes he watched as she put on the record. And with wide-awake ears he listened as her message came out of the machine:
"Now hear this, Wilbur Peeble! Don't be a cheapskate all your life. All your friends' wives have fur coats. Do you want your own wife to look like a bum? Tell her tomorrow to buy a fur coat. After all, you can't take money into heaven. Spend a little, Wilbur. Tell your wife to get that fur coat now!"
Wilbur laughed to himself as Trellis Mae hopefully cranked the phonograph and played the record over and over. She had to quit after four hours because of a charityhorse.
Showdown at Breakfast
At breakfast the next morning Wilbur solemnly told her:
"Honey, maybe I've been acting like a cheapskate about that fur coat. I don't want you looking like a bum. You go buy that coat today."
"Y-y-you m-m-mean it?" stammered his sleepy wife, rubbing her sore arm.
"Why, sure, dear," he said. "Ah your friends have fur coats."
When he returned from work that night, Trellis Mae showed him a $2,000 fur coat she had taken out from the store on approval. Wilbur said it looked wonderful, and Trellis Mae went to bed, worn out but happy.
Half an hour later Wilbur launched his wily counterattack. He crept in with the portable phonograph. For six straight hours he played the following record into his wife's sleeping ear:
"Now hear this, Trellis Mae! A good wife saves her husband's money. You look like a polar bear in that fur coat. You don't want a fur coat. Take it back to the store. A good wife saves her husband's money."
The following morning Trellis Mae said fretfully:
"I don't know what's the matter with me. I don't like that fur coat, and I'm going to take it right back. I think we ought to save the money."
Forgot the Record
Wilbur decided it was wise to play it cautious.
"I guess men never will understand women," he said. "But do as you like. Why don't you return the coat late this afternoon. Then you can drop by my office, and I'll treat you to dinner out and a show."
"Yes, dear," said Trellis Mae dutifully.
Late that afternoon the door to Wilbur's office opened. In strolled his wife—still wearing the $2,000 fur coat.
"I thought—" he began, started.
"I'm keeping the coat even if I look like a walrus in it," she said grimly.
"I don't understand—" said Wilbur.
"Well, I haven't got it all figured out yet myself," said Trellis Mae. "But I'll tell you the mistake you made, Wilbur. You forgot to take your record off the phonograph this morning."
Auto Thievery Picks Up In Cold Weather, Car Owners Warned
WASHINGTON — (P) — Car owners today were reminded officially that auto theft appears to follow a seasonal trend and usually take an upturn in the cold months.
FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a statement that statistics for the past five years show December leading in such thefts for two of the years and October, January and April at the top during the other three. The low months were June, July and August.
Hoover asserted that over the years more than 90 per cent of all stolen cars are recovered, but he said the offense continues to be not only a nuisance, but a source of staggering loss to car owners in damaged or wrecked vehicles.
He suggested special care in keeping parked cars locked, avoiding exposure of packages or luggage in parked cars, and the least possible use of dark streets for night parking.

Spending For Defense Sinks U. S. Deep In Red For July-Oct. Quarter

WASHINGTON — (P) — The government wound up the first quarter of this fiscal year $2,614,986 in the red—biggest single quarter deficit in history except in all-out war years.
Defense spending was one big reason. The treasury reported defense outlays from July 1 to Oct. 1 amounted to $9,232,000, compared with only $3,594,000,000 for the same period last year.
This year's first quarter deficit compares with a net surplus of $296,347,044 at this time last year, after the first full quarter of the Korean war.
Income from taxes and other sources amounted to $12,373,779,588 in the first quarter this year, an increase over last year's figure of $9,344,955,117.

Financier Rubinstein, Draft Dodger In 1943, Man Without Country

LOS ANGELES — (P) — Draft dodger Serge Rubinstein, onetime boy wizard of Wall Street, may know where his next dollar is coming from—but he doesn't know where he will spend it.
Rubinstein is a man without a country. As he put it at his deportation hearing, "I believe I'm stateless."
The United States wants to deport the Russian-born, 43-year-old financier because of his draft dodging conviction in 1943. After numerous appeals, Rubinstein served 18 months in 1947 and 1948.
Asked what country he'd like to enter if deported, Rubinstein said "the thought never entered my mind."
Final decision on the deportation will come later in Washington.
Rubinstein said he now is president of the Midway Victor Oil Co., of Texas; Mid-City Property Inc.; New York, and Carolina Property, Inc., a real estate operating firm. His current assets, his attorney said, are "too complicated" to describe.

MT. PLEASANT, Mich. — (P) — Gravely injured when his car bounced out of control, a Dearborn oil man sat pinned in the vehicle for five hours before dawn in the driveway of a locker plant.
State police said a number of passersby saw the upright car of James Bovell, 28, of Dearborn in the driveway but did not realize an accident had occurred.

Michigan Professor Says Russia Holds Edge In Propaganda

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (P) — Back from a scientific expedition into northern Iran and Iraq, a University of Michigan professor reports Russia apparently has the edge in a propaganda battle with the United States.
American propaganda efforts were described as ineffective by Prof. George G. Cameron, who led an eight-man expedition into countries bordering on Russia and the rich oil lands of middle east.
Prof. Cameron told a news conference "the times demand a better knowledge of the Middle East. The Middle Eastern peoples will not understand us until we begin to understand them."
Prof. Cameron said it was obvious the Russians were attempting to make their influence felt in the country of the Kurds. Moscow radio, he said, blotted out the broadcasts of the United States information service from Baghdad.
The scientist said members of his expedition felt that American efforts to influence the peoples of the Middle East were superficial. American broadcasts to the Kurds he described as "too intellectual."
Prof. Cameron said the Kurds described one publication put out by the U. S. information as on the silly side. It depicted a pig with a hammer and sickle tail eating up all the good things in the country. The Kurds told him that the United States would get better results by spending money on medical supplies for the inhabitants of the mountainous country rather than on propagandizing them.
The scientist said both the governments of Iran and Iraq cooperated with his expedition and he encountered no hostility from the people.
Prof. Cameron said he was told by authorities of the country they had been warned to look upon his expedition as made up of "American spies." The implication was that the warning came from the Russians, he said.

Traffic Mishap Rise Halted In August; Higher Hazards Near

LANSING — (P) — The 15-month-long rise in Michigan traffic accidents was halted in August, the state police reported today.
But the police warned the state is approaching the high hazard period of the year, especially for pedestrians, when bad weather and long hours of darkness mean death on the highways.
The police said accidents dropped two per cent and injuries three per cent in August from the previous year.
August deaths actually rose three per cent, but this was due to a bus-truck collision near Alpena which killed 11 persons.
For the first eight months of the year, the report said, Michigan suffered 1,041 highway deaths, 31,406 injuries and 111,924 accidents.
This was an eight per cent increase in deaths over the previous year, a 12 per cent increase in injuries and a 15 per cent increase in accidents.

Oil Company, Bovell lost control of his car on a road two miles east of Mt. Pleasant, officers said. The car hit a tree and bounced onto the driveway of the Collins Locker plant. Police timed the mishap at about 1:30 a. m.
Bovell's car was discovered at 6:44 a. m. by Robert Collins, owner of the plant. Bovell was sitting pinned in the car, his neck broken.
The injured man was taken to Mt. Pleasant Community hospital where attendants said he was in serious condition.

Potter Backs Nationwide Congressman Asks CAB Approval

Rep. Charles E. Potter of the Eleventh Michigan district supports the application of the National Airlines for certification in a letter sent to Donwald W. Myrop, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington.

The Michigan congressman's letter reads in part as follows:

"I wish to take this occasion again to go on record as urging favorable board action on the application of National Airlines pertaining to direct common carrier certificated air transportation service between Michigan's two peninsulas.

"Evidence before you proves that direct, one-carrier air service between Michigan's two peninsulas is mandatory, economically sound, and warranted as a public necessity and convenience, particularly so because all other modes of public transportation between our two peninsulas are relatively poor.

"While it is absolutely imperative the western part of Michigan's Upper Peninsula be served by a certificated air carrier, that carrier should properly be one operating intra-state as the evidence before you indicates most clearly.

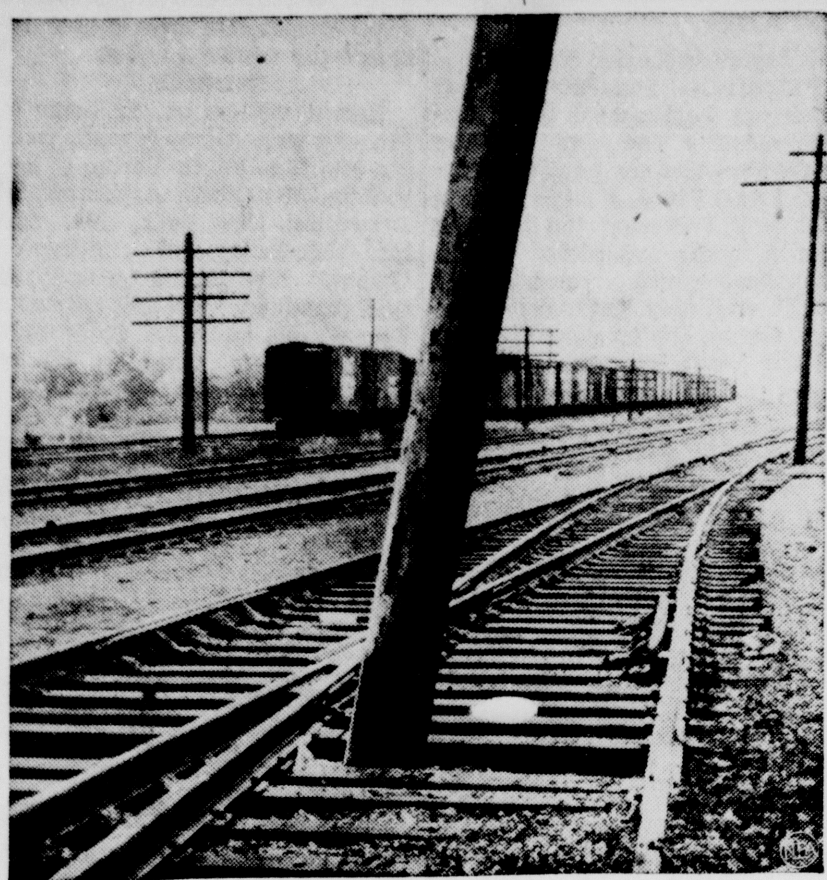

"The history of Wisconsin Central Airlines is clear. After it received the certificate to provide air mail service to the Upper Peninsula, it did not initiate service for two years because of lack of operating funds and planes, and since has operated with the aid of exceedingly high government subsidy. Nationwide Airlines, without advantage of mail subsidy, air express, or interline traffic revenues, has operated economically scheduled airline service over the proposed route for almost four years. It is estimated—and this certainly is an important factor to be taken into consideration—that Nationwide can operate the proposed new service at a savings to the government of around $140,000 annually over Wisconsin Central."

DE-E-E-TOUR-R-R! — "Watch out for that new spur in Hopkins, Minn." the Milwaukee Railroad dispatcher said to the engineer. The telephone pole smack in the middle of the tracks caused plenty of comment. But the railroad explained the tracks were laid thus to speed the job, with the pole slated for removal before the first train runs on the new tracks.

Ruffed Grouse Kill In County Is Phenomenal

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP) — Bad breaks in the weather rather than a scarcity of targets were holding the kill down in the first week of the Upper Peninsula bird season.

Even so, there were two regions where hunters were having outstanding success.

The ruffed grouse kill along Lake Michigan from Delta county to Menominee county was called "phenomenal" for the first few days. Limit bags were the rule rather than the exception.

In Iron, Menominee, Dickinson and Delta counties hunting for sharp-tailed grouse was unusually good. Many limit bags were reported from western Delta county.

MRS. MARY LOUISE GAGNON

Largely attended funeral services were held for Mrs. Mary Louise Gagnon at 9:30 yesterday morning from the Sacred Heart church at Schaffer with the Rev. Fr. Joseph Beauchene officiating at the requiem high mass.

The honorary pallbearers of the French Canadian Union were Mrs. Peter Sabourin, Mrs. D. LaVigne, Mrs. C. Derouin, and Mrs. A. Taylor. The Ladies of St. Anne formed an honorary escort.

Active pallbearers were L. E. Racicot, Clarence Martin, Joseph LeBeau, Edward Taylor, George Pilon, and R. E. Charboneau.

Burial took place in the family lot in the Sacred Heart cemetery at Schaffer.

Out-of-town relatives attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. John Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gagnon, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pilon, Marvion, Marion and Gordon Pilon, Antigo, Wis.; Mrs. Margaret Tatrow, Garden; and Mrs. Carl Gardner, Iron Mountain; Mrs. James Alward, Waupun, Wis.; Mrs. William Alward and daughter, Nancy, Green Bay, Wis.; Mrs. Frank Kidd, Gladstone; J. H. Nontelle, Wills; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bastyr, Mrs. Irene Grimm, Antigo, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schubert, Stambaugh; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Auger, Mrs. Zella Blake, Mrs. Alfred Quinn, Mrs. Rose Dupont, Mrs. Peter Chaput, Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. Evelyn McMartin, Mrs. Edward Olson, and Mrs. Charles Derouin, Escanaba.

Lighter Elsewhere

Elsewhere the ruffed and sharp-tailed grouse bags were lighter than last year.

The woods all through the Upper Peninsula were at the height of Autumn beauty, but little if any foliage had fallen. This made for bad visibility. Many flushed birds disappeared in the leaves before hunters could get a shot away.

After a passable opening day, the weather turned against the hunters completely.

Morning fog, overcast skies and widespread rainstorms discouraged many from taking planned forays into the woods.

Back roads were in very bad shape due to rain. This seriously hampered movement of hunters.

Fewer Hunters

Field observations confirmed early predictions of a reduced hunting army in the first week because of the Monday opening.

Local hunters who had to work stayed in town, but there were more out of state hunters than ever before.

It was believed this weekend, continued fall of foliage and little better weather would bring a surge in hunting pressure. The kill of pheasants in the part of Menominee county opened for a special ten day season was small.

There was very little hunting for rabbits and squirrels, those hunting these species preferring to wait for the first snow.

Local ducks were beginning to show signs of restlessness, stirring the hope of duck hunters that they would be on the move by the Oct. 12 opening.

Benefit Of $500 Paid 390 In Michigan For Korean Battle Deaths

LANSING — (AP) — The state has received 390 claims for the $500 death benefit paid to immediate relatives of Michigan sons and fathers killed in the Korean campaign.

A total of $127,500 has been paid out for the 255 claims approved and the remainder are still in processing. This represents only a minute sum compared to the $219,772.67 which has been paid in bonuses and death benefits to veterans of World War Two.

The Korean veterans do not receive a bonus, but the legislature voted to pay $500 to the close relative of each man killed in Korea.

The adjutant general's office reported claims paid indicate that Wayne, Oakland and Ingham counties have lost the most men in Korea. Wayne county drew 64 death benefits, Oakland county 17 and Ingham 15.

Profit On Home Sales Tax Free If Reinvested

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate-House conferees yesterday approved a decision vitally affecting many home-owners in the multi-billion dollar tax boosting measure.

The conference group agreed to waive the capital gains tax on any profit an owner makes selling his dwelling, provided he re-invests the profit in another home within a year.

At present half the gain on such a transaction is taxable, either at the regular income rate or at an alternative capital gain rate of 50 per cent.

The concession is estimated to result in a loss of $112,600,000 a year to the treasury.

The committee also agreed to lift from $500 to $600 the amount a taxpayer's dependent can earn in one year and still be a dependent.

Mining interests got a break when the conference group agreed to a broadened list of depletion allowances on minerals, including a raise in the allowance on coal from 5 to 10 per cent. The owner of a mineral deposit subject to a depletion allowance can write off the tax on a stipulated percentage of the value of the minerals taken from his land each year.

Additions to the lists include sand, gravel and oyster shell, at 5 per cent; asbestos, dolomite and magnesite at 10 per cent; and bauxite, fluorspar and feldspar at 15 per cent.

Allied Forces Hit Red Buildup Area; Chinese Retreat

Chinese who had defended it fiercely for six days vanished during the night.

At the southern end of the front Australian and British infantrymen of the first Commonwealth division pushed forward against weakening opposition. They virtually completed capture of the last few hills of a line between the Imjin and Samichon rivers.

Between these two sectors the U. S. First Cavalry division beat off a series of counterattacks by thousands of Chinese who stormed down off their hills in the early morning hours.

New Offensive Rumored

Third division officers said in the fight for the hills the Reds lost an estimated 500, dead, 582 wounded and 35 prisoners.

In the south the tank-supported Australians and British pushed through scattered resistance as the Chinese withdrew northward.

Commonwealth forces had battled elements of a Chinese division of 8,000 men. But apparently the Communists elected not to commit the entire division.

Reports from the eastern front Friday said the Reds were planning a new win-the-war offensive for Oct. 23. Other reports, possibly only rumors, said a Red offensive was set for next Friday.

The October 23 date was reported by anti-Communist North Koreans. They attributed it to North Korean political officers. These Reds also were quoted as saying there would be no truce in Korea in the immediate future.

An official copy of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's newest cease-fire proposal, offering the Reds a chance to select a no-man's-land site for resuming truce talks, was delivered to Communist liaison officers Friday.

The U. N. commander's firm stand against resuming discussions at Kaesong made it apparent the allies have no intention of renewing negotiations unless the Reds agree to a chance of sites.

Father Loses 4 Boys For Week In Traffic Snarl At San Fernando

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Tom Hastings got his four children back Thursday, one week after he "lost" them in a traffic snarl in suburban San Fernando.

Hastings, 29, Twin Falls, Ida., truck driver, said he had been very busy hunting the boys throughout two counties and hadn't read newspaper stories of the youngsters' own plight.

The children were riding in a car of a friend, Ralph Warren, 24, also of Twin Falls. Also with Warren was Wilma Robertson, 17. Miss Robertson's mother, Mrs. Edna Robertson, and sister, Edna June, were riding with Hastings.

As Hastings explained it, he stopped to buy a newspaper and lost sight of Warren's car.

Warren, after missing Hastings, appealed to police for help in finding him. Juvenile authorities took charge of the children.

School Board Offices Move To East Lansing

EAST LANSING — (AP) — Sid H. Sixma of Muskegon, newly appointed field secretary of the Michigan Association of School Boards, will have his office to the Michigan State College continuing education center Monday.

The permanent office of the association, which maintains contact with Michigan's 17,000 school board members, formerly was located in Ann Arbor. The association said the more central East Lansing location will save board members several hundred dollars a year in travelling expenses.

Killed instantly were James Salmons, 23, his son, James Wayne Salmons, 4, and daughter, Rose Ann six months.

Salmons wife Jimmie Lee, 21, died of a skull fracture in Toledo hospital today. The couple's third child, David Louis, 2, suffered a minor cut.

Grand Rapids Newsman New Head Of Tourist Resort Association

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — A veteran Grand Rapids (Press) newspaper man, B. G. Brown, is the new president of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association.

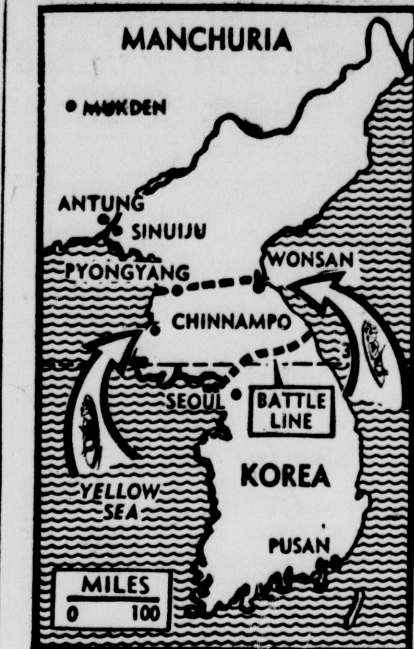

Acting president since May, Brown was chosen yesterday by directors at the Association's 34th annual meeting here. He has been a member of the resort group's executive committee for the past 20 years.

The board also named Arthur L. Whisley, Northport Point, and John Wurz, managing editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, vice presidents; and Larry Murray, Dowagiac, treasurer.

Chester C. Wells was re-appointed secretary — manager for his fifth straight year.

AMPHIBIOUS PLAN? — Peiping radio charged that the U. N. command plans troop landings on both East and West coasts of Korea north of present battle lines. The report said sea operations in vicinity of Chinnampo (port area for Pyongyang) and Wonsan were intensified. The Newsmag above shows how such amphibious operations might place U. N. forces in position at shorter "waitline" of Korea 50 to 80 miles north of the present battle line.

Nuts To Protocol; Michigan Salutes Princess Oct. 15

DETROIT — (AP) — The state of Michigan is going to salute Princess Elizabeth with 21 guns — the U. S. Army notwithstanding.

That was settled today. But there was quite a niff-naw first.

Clifford Prevost, secretary of Mayor Albert Cobo, gave federal troops the first crack at the job of firing a 21-gun salute when the princess arrives in Windsor, Ont., across the Detroit river, Oct. 15.

Col. J. R. Urquhart, commander of the Michigan military district, replied with regrets, saying: "In view of the visit of the royal party to Washington later it is not considered appropriate that a national salute precede the official reception by the president."

"Nuts to government protocol," Prevost stormed. "Get me Gen. McDonald on the phone."

Brig.-Gen. Gordon McDonald, artillery commander of the Michigan (46th division) National Guard, quickly accepted the firing invitation.

"I'll have some field pieces down on the riverfront," he told Prevost. "Just find me a place where the blasts won't break a lot of windows."

Picketing Of Movie Written By Alleged Communist Is Ended

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Pickets were withdrawn yesterday from a theater showing a movie written by a man who has been named as a Communist.

The pickets were placed there Wednesday by the wage earners committee, a group which heretofore has said its primary interest was in fighting "labor bosses."

The movie is "Kind Lady," starring Ethel Barrymore.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios told the committee it bought the play outright from Edward Chodorov four years ago.

MGM said Chodorov, who was named at a House Un-American Activities committee hearing as a Communist, receives no royalties from the movie.

Then the committee withdrew its pickets.

A new synthetic rubber-nylon "pillow" gasoline tank, which lies flat on the ground and provides 10,000 gallons of storage in ten minutes, soon will be servicing U. S. fighting tanks and trucks at the front.

Indian Summer Bad For Archery Hunters

(By The Associated Press)

Indian summer may be hampering the hunting efforts of Michigan's modern day Mahathas.

The deer season for archers is now five days old, and over much of that time, the weather has been unseasonably warm.

The four-day bag, according to the state conservation department, is 2 deer. Twenty one of these were killed in the Lower Peninsula and four in the Upper Peninsula.

The chief kill-joy for the hunters reportedly is the heavy foliage which warm weather has helped keep on the trees, and muddy bad roads due to occasional rains.

Small game hunters also have been out in the Upper Peninsula since Oct. 1. But there, too, the kill generally is light, with best returns reported in Delta county.

Robert Glenn, 14-year-old Cheboygan high school freshman, is the youngest hunter to get his deer. He shot a doe while hunting with a bow and arrow in Montmorency county.

Appeal Cattle Case To Supreme Court

Notice of an appeal to the supreme court by defendant Sam Goldstein of Marquette from a Delta county circuit court judgement entered July 17, 1951, has been filed here today.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Thompson of Trenary were plaintiffs in the suit for damages against Goldstein, from whom they had bought eight head of dairy cattle. They were paying for the cattle under a financing plan, and in their absence the cattle were repossessed by Goldstein and some of them were sold.

Circuit court gave the Thompsons a verdict of $932 and denied motion for a new trial.

Forty Hours Will Begin Sunday At St. Joseph Church

The Forty Hours Devotion, in honor of the Blessed Sacrament, will open at St. Joseph church Sunday morning with a solemn high Mass and procession at 7:30. The Blessed Sacrament is carried around the church, will be an honor guard of men from the parish Holy Name Society, carrying lighted candles.

The devotion will last for three days, during which the Blessed Sacrament will be publicly enthroned on the main altar of the church for the adoration and veneration of the people. Father Stephen Schneider, O.F.M., pastor of St. Joseph church, has announced that the people are invited and urged to receive the Sacraments and to make an hour of adoration in the church daily during the Devotion to pray for peace. A special holy hour will be made by the Third Order of St. Francis Sunday afternoon from 2:00 to 3:00. Special indulgences, equivalent to the doing of lengthy penance, can be gained during the Forty Hours by making such visits to the church, Father Stephen said.

At 7:30 each evening of the Devotion there will be a solemn service consisting of the rosary, sermon, hymns in honor of the Blessed Sacrament, and Benediction. The sermons will be given by Father Thomas Andary, pastor of St. Andrew Church, Nahma. The Catholic clergy of Escanaba and other cities will attend the services each evening.

The solemn close of the Forty Hours will take place Tuesday evening and will include the chanting of the Litany of All Saints and a final procession with the Blessed Sacrament. Marching in this procession will be the children of St. Joseph grade school.

The custom of an annual Forty Hours Devotion to honor the Blessed Sacrament was begun in Milan, Italy, in or near the year 1534. The Forty Hours represent the time during which the body of Christ reposed in the tomb before the resurrection. Purpose of the Devotion, which is held yearly in every Catholic church, is to make reparation to Christ for sin and to petition for peace. The Devotion is open to any non-Catholics who may wish to attend.

"He Hath Done All Things Well"

DEPARTING from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, Jesus came to the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the coasts of Decapolis. And they bring unto Him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; and they beseech Him to put His hands upon him. And He took him aside from the multitude, and put His fingers into his ears, and He spit, and touched his tongue; and looking up to heaven, He sighed, and saith unto him, "Ephphatha," that is, "Be Opened."

And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spoke plain. And He charged them that they should tell no man; but the more He charged them, so much the more a great deal they published it.

And were beyond measure astonished, saying, "He hath done all things well; He maketh both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak."

—Taken from St. Mark 7, 31-37.

Synthetic Fuel For Autos Seen

Lignite And Coal Would Be Used

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP) — Synthetic fuel for the nation's cars, industry and war machine seems a step nearer today.

If synthetic fuel becomes a commercial reality in the plants proposed in Illinois and Colorado, the United States could rely on its vast coal, lignite, and shale deposits for years to come. This would free it from fear of strangulation if war cut off world supplies of natural oil, or from possible drying up of America's own oil reserves—even though that would be in the distant future.

Petroleum—and the power that comes from it in gasoline, fuel oil, and the vast number of petrochemicals from which many of our plastics and synthetics derive—plays a great part in world politics today.

Right now the world worries lest Britain's loss of Iran's oil—and Russia's lust for it—spark the next war. And America worries lest such a war, with its great demands for fuel, might strain her own natural oil reserves.

The big question is whether synthetic gasoline and chemicals can be made from coal, shale and lignite economically. A very large segment of leaders in the fuel industries, and some government men, say it can't yet. They regard attempts to do it now, with government aid, as a drain on the taxpayer.

But others say the synthetic process has been improved until it is now possible to produce chemicals and gasoline from coal and shale at a price competitive with petroleum. And they add that this country has enough coal to provide the nation with a thousand years' supply of gasoline, enough shale in the Rockies for 135 years of gasoline, enough lignite "to operate American industry 400 years."

Held 2 Years In Yugoslavia, George Marohnic Is Granted Permission To Return To U. S.

After being held in Yugoslavia against his wishes for more than two years, George Marohnic of Gladstone is being allowed to return to the United States, according to letters received here from Congressman Charles E. Potter.

Quoted in his letter was a portion of a letter dated Sept. 27, 1951 received by Cong. Potter from the Passport Division, Department of State:

"With reference to my letter of Nov. 6, 1950, concerning the citizenship case of Mr. George Marohnic, who is in Yugoslavia, the case of Mr. Marohnic has been reconsidered by the Department in the light of additional information furnished by the American Consular Officer at Zagreb.

The conclusion has been reached that Mr. Marohnic must be considered to have voted in Yugoslavia under circumstances amounting to duress and that he did not, as heretofore held by the Department, lose the nationality of the United States under the provisions of Section 401 (e) of the Nationality Act of 1940 by voting in Yugoslavia.

"This Department's representative at Zagreb is being authorized to issue a passport to Mr. Marohnic to enable him to return to the United States."

Marohnic returned to his homeland early in 1949 to visit his wife. His voting in an election in that country was interpreted as surrender of his U. S. citizenship and his passport was revoked. As a

Final Tribute Paid Dr. Shaw

Business Closes For Services

Business was suspended in Manistique yesterday afternoon while residents paid final respect to Dr. George A. Shaw, beloved physician and civic and fraternal leader, who died suddenly Monday afternoon.

Nearly every business establishment in the community closed for two hours in the afternoon, including the city hall, the court house and the post office. The capacity of the Presbyterian church where services were held at 2:30 was taxed to capacity as his fellow citizens gathered there in final tribute.

Included were friends from Escanaba, Marquette, Ironwood, Gladstone, Sault Ste. Marie, Caro, Lansing, Detroit, and other communities of Michigan.

Masonic orders in which he held membership also were represented, including the Escanaba Commandery of the Knights Templar, the Shrine and Consistory of Marquette, and the Grand Commandery of Michigan.

Fellow members of the Knights Templar formed a guard of honor at the church and later at Fairview cemetery where Masonic rites were conducted by Arthur Nelson, of Escanaba, past eminent commander of the Escanaba commandery. Members of Lakeside Lodge No. 371 took part in the last tribute.

Rev. Paul Sobel officiated at the services. Tribute also was paid at the church rites by Arthur Thorp on behalf of the Presbyterian board of elders of which Dr. Shaw was clerk.

Herbert K. Peterson sang, with Mrs. Arthur H. Hall, church organist, playing the accompaniment.

Escorts were A. F. Hall, Thomas H. Bolitho, A. W. Heitman, Fred H. Hahne, J. Mauritz Carlson, and J. Joseph Herbert.

The bride was attired in a green suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. Gordon Johns, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid. She wore a green suit styled similar to that of the bride's and her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mrs. McCahey attended her daughter's wedding in an orchid colored street length dress and a corsage of yellow pompons. Mrs. Cecil Taylor, sister of the groom, was attired in a red suit. Her corsage was of bronze pompons.

The steel mills need scrap iron

Latest reports indicate that the shortage of scrap iron is critical... that many mills may be forced to curtail vital defense production unless the supply of scrap iron is replenished.

This is your chance to aid your country. Search your premises now and find every bit of scrap iron you can... then take it to your scrap metal dealer.

In the yard of scrap metal dealer, the scrap iron is available to the mills as required... scattered throughout the countryside in attics, basements, barns and fields it is of no value at all to the defense program.

Scout Program Well Underway

Community Has Five Active Units

The Manistique Boy Scout program is well underway with the advent of the fall season, it is reported by Rev. Paul Sobel, local Boy Scout commissioner.

Two Scout troops continued to meet throughout the summer, and three other units are being reactivated this month.

Under the leadership of Robert Hentschell the troop sponsored by the First Baptist church had a varied program during the summer. Also active during the summer months was troop 460, sponsored by the Lincoln PTA and under the leadership of Lionel Tyrrell.

Summer activities included weekly meetings, weekend hikes, summer camp at Red Buck and short day trips.

The three units start their program in October are troop 461, sponsored by the Manistique Rotary club and under the leadership of Ben Karwoski; Cub pack 60 which meets at Lakeside school and is under the sponsorship of the Lakeside-Central PTA; and pack 30 sponsored by the Lincoln PTA and with Victor Haas as Cubmaster. Roger Smith is Cubmaster of the Lakeside-Central pack.

Boys from 8 to 16, inclusive, are served by the three Scout troops and the two cub packs. Last year approximately 140 boys participated in the Scouting program, and many of them in the upper age bracket also served the community in such projects as distributing Red Cross savings bonds literature, collecting waste paper and planting trees.

The prospects for another successful year in Scouting are good. Rev. Sobel said. The goal of each unit, he said, is to operate at the full capacity of 32 boys.

Manistique Convict Asks Review Of His 1946 Robbery Case

LANSING.—(AP)—The state supreme court issued a writ of habeas corpus today to obtain a review of the imprisonment of Benjamin J. Joslin of Manistique, sentenced at Sault Ste. Marie to 15 years to life for robbery armed.

Joslin, 16 years of age when sentenced, was sent to prison April 1, 1946.

He contended his imprisonment was illegal because he was arrested and arraigned in Schoolcraft county, waived to circuit court jurisdiction in that county and then sentenced and tried in Chippewa county.

He also contended he had not been allowed legal counsel during the entire process.

The attorney general's office, opposing the writ, said that since Chippewa and Schoolcraft counties were in the same judicial circuit there was nothing improper in his trial. It said he was waived from probate court jurisdiction after his parents consented and he admitted his guilt and that he was offered legal counsel but declined it.

Rumor O'Neill Finished With Boston Red Sox

NEW YORK — (AP) — Reports around world series headquarters today indicated that Steven O'Neill is through as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

From a reliable source it was learned that Tom Yawkey, president of the Red Sox, is contemplating a drastic shakeup of the front office involving General Manager Joe Cronin, O'Neill and Lou Boudreau.

According to the informant, Cronin is slated to move to Washington as general manager. Boudreau is to be elevated from the playing ranks to succeed Cronin and Frank (Pinky) Higgins is to be brought up from Louisville of the American Association to replace the popular O'Neill.

Higgins, a former star infielder with the Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers, piloted the Louisville club into a fourth place playoff berth this past season.

Boudreau, who managed Cleveland for nine years, was signed by the Red Sox last winter after the Indians had given him his unconditional release. Hobbled by injuries, Lou appeared in 82 games and batted .264.

While manager at Cleveland, Boudreau had O'Neill as one of his coaches. As a player in Buffalo, Lou performed under O'Neill.

Another rumor has the Indians offering outfielder Larry Doby to the Red Sox for Ted Williams. A person close to the Indians admitted that the Indians had made overtures for Williams, but said the Tribe had been turned down by Yawkey.

Richards Calls Irvin Greatest Ball Player

NEW YORK — (AP) — If you think the Giants' Monte Irvin is a prize baseball package, just get a load of this from Paul Richards, manager of the Chicago White Sox:

"I think Irvin is the greatest ball player in America," he said today.

"This fellow has everything. He can run, hit and field. Right now there's only one man I'd compare with him. That's Stan Musial. They're a lot alike—the easy, faultless way they play."

Braves Crippled For Indian Grid Invasion

GLADSTONE — Gloom pervaded the camp of the Gladstone Braves as they prepared for their clash Saturday at 2 o'clock with the high-riding Newberry Indians at Marble Athletic field.

Packer-Steeler Aerial Display Is Anticipated

GREEN BAY, Wis.—A gigantic aerial display will be on tap when the Green Bay Packers meet the Pittsburgh Steelers in the second National Football league game for both teams at State Fair Park in Milwaukee at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Coach Gene Ronzani's Packers revealed—for the benefit of 25,000 persons and the Chicago Bears—that they intend to do plenty of passing this season. Ronzani unveiled an unusual double flanker offense against the Bears and it produced 22 completions in 38 pass attempts by Quarterback Bobby Thomason and Tobin Rote.

Ten different Packers, including six backs and four ends, participated in the receiving as the Packers dropped a hard-fought 31-20 decision.

Air-Minded
The Steelers tipped their passing hand Monday night as they scored an upset 13-13 tie with the New York Giants. Five different Steelers threw passes as the Pittsburgh club showed a surprising "leave" from its vaunted single wing ground power.

Pittsburgh's big gun was Joe Geri, the running, passing and kicking left half, but Milwaukee fans likely will see a lot of Chuck Ortmann, the former University of Michigan tailback whose home is in Milwaukee.

Sunday's game will be the first for the new-regime Packers against Pittsburgh in a league contest. The final old-regime Packer-Pitt game was played in Milwaukee in 1949 and the Steelers walked off with it, 30-7.

The two clubs aren't exactly unfamiliar with each other, however, since they tangled in an exhibition contest in Buffalo last month. The Steelers, took the contest, 35-6, picking up Packer fumbles for three touchdowns. Pittsburgh, incidentally knocked off the Chicago Bears the next Sunday in an exhibition event.

By Jack Mand
NEW YORK — (AP) — Leo Durocher's winning gamble with Dave Koslo gave the incredible New York Giants an edge today in their world series date with destiny—and the New York Yankees.

Apparently Durocher can do no wrong in this most remarkable comeback story in all baseball history. He took a chance with his No. 4 pitcher yesterday and got away with it, 5-1 against Allie Reynolds, who "warmed up" for the series with a no-hitter against the Boston Red Sox.

Now Durocher has Larry Jansen (23-11) ready for today's second game at the stadium. Jim Hearn (17-9), Monday's playoff winner at Brooklyn, is set for Saturday and Sal Mangle (23-6) ready to come back Sunday with three full days rest.

Three Aces Set
Instead of a weary crew of staggering pitchers Leo has his three best ready to go in order. And the Yankees already have used up the feared Mr. Reynolds. Retreating in confusion from the 8 to 5 odds favoring the Yankees, the market now says 6 to 5 and take your pick.

With the Giant array of right-handed batting power, Lefty Eddie Lopat (21-9) is no cinch to square the series for Casey Stengel today. A control pitcher whose stuff usually produces many fly balls, Lopat will have to thread the needle to escape trouble from rioting Bobby Thomson and Monte Irvin.

Despite Koslo's seven-hit mastery, Irvin's prodigious deeds and Alvin Dark's three-run homer, the Giants' opening victory at Yankee stadium was a drab "morning after" to their glorious pennant clinching of Wednesday.

It was like following Milton Berle with a dog act. Or following a dog act with Milton Berle, depending on your personal tastes. Not even Hollywood could top the hysterics of the playoff final.

Irvin Hits Stride
That man Irvin, finally hitting his stride as one of the great hitters in modern day baseball, really had himself an afternoon yesterday against Reynolds.

Monte Irvin's series record with four hits, one a triple, stole home against Reynolds with the second Giant run in the first inning and contributed two fine catches. What more can a man do in his first world series game?

Irvin and Koslo were the story until Dark hammered his homer into the left field seats in the sixth. That nailed it down for Koslo, the 31-year-old control artist from Menasha, Wis.

Koslo is known around the National league as the Cardinal killer for his success against St. Louis. Four of his 10 regular season victories were scored over the Cards with their predominantly left-handed batting order.

Few expected Koslo to throttle the Yankees, although they have been vulnerable to left-handers all season. Stengel used only two lefty batters—Yogi Berra and Joe Collins. Still, when he needed to in the late innings he had to resort to three left-handed pinch hitters. Perhaps that's the tipoff on the current Yankees.

Start Fast
The Giants were completely disrespectful of the Yanks' reputation for winning "the big ones." They ripped into Reynolds for two ends, McArthur or Pelletier and Page at tackles, Stephenson and Mohr at guards, Anderson at center, Villemure at quarterback, Taylor and Boggs at halfbacks and Ferris at full.

A preliminary between the reserve elevens of the two schools will start at 12:30.

Martinac, Pepin Lost For Norway

Prospects for an upset win over Norway tomorrow night looked dimmer for St. Joe today. Coach Tom St. Germain announced that two regulars, John Martinac and Harlon Pepin, will be out of action entirely.

Both are juniors, playing their third year of football with the Trojans. Martinac has severe charley horses and Pepin suffered a head jolt last week in the Lourdes game.

In Top Ten
In addition to Michigan State, the other three are among the top 10 teams in the land. Oklahoma was placed in the N. 4 spot in the first weekly poll, while Ohio State got No. 7 ranking, and Texas A&M, No. 10.

At College Station, another sell-out throng of about 40,000 will take in the tussle at Kyle Field between Oklahoma and Texas A&M under the lights. Oklahoma, voted the nation's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll last fall, is favored to repeat as the Big Seven conference champion, while the Texas Aggies have high hopes of coping the southwest conference crown.

The Giant right field regular sprained his ankle in Wednesday's wild ninth inning. Thompson, who did a capable job yesterday, will continue in the outfield, dropping down in the order to let Thompson hit third against steady Eddie.

After today's game the scene shifts to the Polo Grounds for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, if necessary. It will be the first series in the Giant park since 1937 when they lost to the Yanks, 4-1.

Of course, if it should rain today they'd stay right in the stadium until they get the second game in the record.

With a righthander going for the Giants, Stengel gave his lineup the old shakedown treatment today. Bobby Brown went to third with McDougal moving to second and Gene Woodling taking over left field.

Once again Professor Stengel was face up with the problem of where to put Di Maggio in the order. Joe was shoved down to fifth and Berra batted cleanup against the Cleveland righthanders in late September. When they hit the steady diet of left-handers in Boston, Joe was back in the No. 4 spot.

Durocher has little hope of playing Don Mueller in the series.

Unbeaten Grid List Due For Pruning In U. P. Weekend Games

The seven-team list of undefeated, untied Upper Peninsula football teams is due for a pruning this weekend.

At least one unblemished record will be spoiled when Stambaugh and Iron River tangle at the Hilltopper gridiron Saturday night. The top attraction in the Menominee Range conference pits a Redskin club with five wins this season (15 straight in the past two years) against Willard Anderson's four-win club.

Maroons At Home
Another feature clash has the Menominee Maroons playing host to a dangerous Iron Mountain team. Newberry invades Gladstone seeking its fifth straight this year. Other undefeated strings will be at stake with Wakefield at Bessemer, Powers host to St. Paul and Stephenson traveling across the Wisconsin border to battle St. Norbert of DePere.

Following are the Upper Peninsula standings as the season enters the home stretch:

Michigan State-Ohio State Big Grid Game

NEW YORK — (AP) — The college football map is dotted with big games Saturday, but the most important from a national standpoint will be spread before the paying customers at Columbus, Ohio, and college station, Texas.

A capacity crowd of some 81,000 will jam Ohio Stadium at Columbus, where Michigan State College puts its No. 1 national rating on the line against an Ohio State team touted as the best in the Big Ten and a potential Rose Bowl visitor.

At College Station, another sell-out throng of about 40,000 will take in the tussle at Kyle Field between Oklahoma and Texas A&M under the lights. Oklahoma, voted the nation's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll last fall, is favored to repeat as the Big Seven conference champion, while the Texas Aggies have high hopes of coping the southwest conference crown.

Elsewhere on the gridiron front are important conference clashes and several big international affairs. The California Bears, No. 2 team this week after pasting Pennsylvania, entertain Minnesota at Berkeley.

But chief interest on the Pacific Coast Saturday is in Seattle where Southern California meets Washington. Both have Rose Bowl ambitions, since the new rule prohibiting California from repeating should it win the league title.

Army Meets Northwestern
Army's crib-weakened forces hie themselves into the mid-west to meet Northwestern, while always dangerous North Carolina visits Austin to meet tough Texas, the nation's No. 6 team.

Other intersectional games include Stanford at Michigan, Baylor at Tulane, Missouri at Southern Methodist, Duke at Tennessee against the No. 3 team, Florida at Loyola of Los Angeles and Rice at Louisiana State, in two night games.

George Tech goes against Kentucky at Lexington in a battle of Southeastern conference rivals, with Georgia at Mississippi State and Alabama at Vanderbilt.

Illinois, the nation's No. 8 outfit, entertains Wisconsin in a major Big Ten fray, with Iowa at Purdue.

In the Southern conference, Maryland, the No. 9 team in the nation, is home against George Washington. Clemson plays at night against North Carolina State.

The east finds several big games, chief among them Princeton at Navy, Dartmouth at Pennsylvania, Cornell at Colgate, Harvard at Columbia, Fordham at Holy Cross, and Penn State vs. Villanova at Allentown.

Notre Dame, a surprising No. 5 in the rankings, takes on Detroit at Detroit tonight. Other games tonight include Boston University at Louisville, Boston College vs. Mississippi at Memphis, and Oklahoma A&M vs. Washington State at Spokane.

George Cummins, 22-pound sophomore guard, is a shot-putter on the Tulane track team. He placed second in the SEC track meet last year.

Censorship Can Wreck This Country - Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—It is known that Harry Truman is a stubborn man, and it is known that at times he has shown himself something less than brilliant, and it is known that he dislikes criticism, especially when it is administered by the Press. But he is not entirely a fool, and I hope he shows a minimum of intelligence by rescinding his latest fluff. That would be the executive order allowing the right of censorship to the head of each governmental department.

RUARK

It sounds more innocuous than it is. It just says that each department head will have the right to "classify" all pertinent information, under the guise of security. That means burying facts, hiding stench, refusing information that might be of public importance. It is the most powerful weapon I know. This censorship, and in the hands of petty men, working for a big boss, it wrecks a country quicker than any other totalitarian device.

One-Man Censor

In final boil-down, the president has just ordered, in effect, that one man—himself—may be declared judge of what the country needs to know. I don't think the boys that good at his business, for a start, and even if he were a parlay between Einstein and the Angel Gabriel I wouldn't want an arbitrary limitation on what you can and can't write. The next step is the jailhouse for people who disagree with policy, in print.

With the president's order in effect, the current lovely stench that floats from Washington concerning his pal Boyle and the Lithofold Corp. and the RFC would certainly be "classified" information, on the grounds that it is much too rich for the voter's blood. I expect Gen. Vaughan and the food freezers would be regarded as rather too secret for public dissemination. I know that the state department would be inclined to discourage any pertinent information on why Bill O'Dwyer, that brot of a bye, was whisked out of New York and into an ambassadorship when the corruption heat started.

Ruark Was Censor

The chief reason I hate any censorship, implied or otherwise, is that I was a censor at one time, when war censorship was partially necessary, but not to the degree to which it was applied. You give a small man a blue pencil and a safe to hide things in and you have bought yourself a junior-grade dictator. During the war I saw censorship practiced to gratify personal spite. I saw news withheld for no reason save guile and/or stupidity. I saw it violated callously and the violators went free if their connections were right. Security is a word that can be misused as fully as any known noun. If it reflects discredit on the subject, all of a sudden it is security. If it fails to praise, and tends to embarrass, it is security. In the last war we had enough regulations in the card file to cripple any zealous reporter into incoherence—and to run him out of the theater—if he made a snide, if honest, remark about any of the higher brass. I think we called it, roughly, anything that tended to cast a shade on the morale of our troops or jeopardized our relations with our gallant Allies. It was a blank check, blanket indictment, ever ready for use.

Hard To Keep Honest
Lord knows it is hard enough to keep a government honest—as the Truman regime has amply shown—even when your press is free and they can't slap an irreverent in the clink for kicking and snorting occasionally. But give the same government the weapon of over-all censorship and the concentration camp is just around the corner. You find a stranger playing your linotypes, as in the case of La Prensa in Argentina, and a polite sentry informs you that the government has "expropriated" your paper because you didn't say nice lies about said government. Expropriated means hijacked.

Haul in your horns on this one, Harry. You made no friends among the press, and, remember, election time is just over the hill.

President Defends His Gag On Press

WASHINGTON — (P) — President Truman said today that his executive order tightening control over government information grew out of publication of 95 per cent of our secrets "by the newspapers and slick magazines."

In a news conference which started late and lasted longer than usual, the President sparred with newspapermen over the order and declared he had no desire to suppress freedom of speech.

The order was issued Sept. 25. It empowers civilian as well as military of the government agencies to withhold information which they think might endanger the national security, and establishes uniform methods of "classifying" such information.

Although the President's announcement of the new order said censorship was not involved, the order has been widely attacked by editors, publishers and many members of Congress as establishing censorship at the source of information to which the public is entitled.

Mr. Truman suggested today that newsmen should withhold even some information made available to them by authorized government agencies.

Various reporters at the news conference then expressed puzzlement over just what the President expected of them.

Over and over again, the President said 95 per cent of all this country's secret information has been released in the press.

At one point he gave permission for direct quotation when he said it had been published "in the slick magazines and the newspapers."

He did not give the newsmen any specific guidance, however. He suggested that patriotism should govern what they publish regardless of what they receive from government sources.

Heart Attacks Claiming Many

Babson Recommends 'Six Weeks Cure'

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—The Babson organization has 2,000 corporations on its master list which it constantly watches. In other words, out of the 16,000 corporations whose securities are publicly traded in, we select 2,000 which we believe to be the cream.

Notwithstanding our careful selection, some of these corporations are at times suffering from one department slipping. This naturally worries the head of the department. The more he worries, the more the department slips; the more it slips, the more he worries. If this continues too long he has a nervous breakdown or a heart attack. This is a loss to the corporation and its stockholders.

The real purpose of my story is to emphasize that men are more important than machines;—in fact, all machines were invented by men and we must depend upon men for coming great inventions. I have in mind electronic devices which should reduce prices and increase the wages of intelligent workers. The value of foremen and department heads is not fully recognized by many corporations. Their accumulation of experience will take many years on the part of their successors to duplicate.

Entitled To More Rest

Corporations judge employees by their hours of work and—directly or indirectly—by their production in physical units. But a department head or foreman may be able to develop original ideas in a few hours that can be worth large amounts to the corporation. To accomplish this, however, such a man should not be worried, and should keep himself in good health. If I should tell the president of the corporation that he could save thousands of dollars annually by spending $1,000 on repairing a certain machine, he would gladly do so; but most corporation heads can't see this when it comes to repairing men or keeping them in A-1 condition.

When I tell the corporation president that he could save and make large sums by spending $1,000 to give the head of a slipping department a complete rest for a month, the president often fails to see the point. Of course, this rest must be away from home and under supervision. Yet, such an investment by the corporation would produce more in dividends to stockholders than if spent in any other possible way. This is the next great lesson which corporations must learn.

Preventing Heart Attacks

During the past year, I have been especially distressed because so many of my friends and clients are dying from heart attacks. This is not only a loss to the family, but often a severe loss to the corporations with which such men were connected. Often the death of such a man is ultimately unfavorably reflected in labor relations, sales programs and the earnings of the corporation; and hence a loss to stockholders. With special interest in the 2,000 corporations above mentioned, I am anxious for the support of all attempts to reduce these heart tragedies.

Doctors tell me that these heart attacks are unnecessary and could largely be prevented if corporations would insist on annual physical audits of their head executives. When finding one of these executives threatened with a heart condition, the corporation would find it an excellent investment to give this executive a supervised vacation with pay at a restful spot catering to the "tired businessman." This is not charity or of a "welfare" nature. It is sound, hardboiled business sense.

The so-called "six weeks cure" for heart attacks can be taken at home or at a hospital if the patient will absolutely obey the doctor's orders; but this is not true of preventive heart repairing. Those showing a tendency to heart trouble, but who have not yet been attacked, need not stay in bed. They should, however, be away from home and office in a restful spot in the woods until all these symptoms vanish.

In this connection let me say that great progress is being made by physicians in detecting possible heart troubles. The electrocardiograph is now being supplemented or anticipated by "flicker tests," blood tests and ingenious gadgets which give an executive a warning to take a rest and avoid further trouble.

Gov. Williams Hides Mennen Connections, Says GOP Opponent

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Governor Williams was accused by his would-be Republican opponent, Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., of hiding his real connection with the Mennen company, large New Jersey toiletries manufacturers.

Addressing a Republican meeting here Thursday, Alger stirred up a recent incident in which strikers at the Mennen company plant accused Williams of giving lip service to organized labor, but acting to the contrary.

Alger said "the union in a statement said that Williams and his mother own 51 per cent of the stock of the multi-million dollar Mennen company."

"Williams admitted owning stock and that he is a director. 'What he forgot to tell the strikers is this—he was a director at one time, but he became first vice-president of the Mennen company and he was officially listed by a reliable reporting firm as first vice-president of the company at the time he was telling the union officials he was only an inactive member of the company's board of directors.'"

This, Alger said, is typical of the "dishonesty," misrepresentations, half-truths and insincerity on the part of the Williams administration."

NROTC Exams To Be Dec. 8

College Training Courses Offered

The Navy announced recently that the sixth nation-wide competitive examination for its College Training Program has been scheduled for December 8, 1951, and will be open to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. Successful candidates will be given a four-year college education, at government expense and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, and quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population. Those who are successful in passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations; then, if they are found in all respects qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial Selection Committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers. The Navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program commencing with the fall term of college, 1952.

The students selected by these competitive examinations will be assigned to the 52 Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps units which are located in various universities and colleges in the United States. If accepted by the college, they will be appointed Midshipmen, U.S.N.R., and will have their tuition, books, and normal fees paid for by the Government. In addition they will receive pay at the rate of $50.00 a month for the four-year period. Upon graduation they may be commissioned as officers in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and required to serve on active duty for two years. At the end of this time they may apply for retention in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps, or transfer to the Reserve and, depending upon the needs of the Service, return to civilian life.

Applications are available at high schools, colleges, and Navy Recruiting Stations.

George Ruwitch, Asst. Principal of Escanaba High School, will provide specific information about the program, including the time and place of the competitive examination, the method of making application, and the specific age and scholastic qualifications.

LANSING (AP)—Governor Williams' endorsement of National Newspaper Week was made public by the executive office. Williams said:

"One of the highest and best aims of man is his desire to know truth. To make this possible there must be freedom of inquiry. If we are to overcome and correct our errors, we must be free to search for information and to acquaint ourselves with the knowledge and thoughts of others."

"The theme of National Newspaper Week—"Your Newspaper Lights the Way of Freedom"—emphasizes the need for concern by all Americans towards the preservation of that climate which will encourage inquiry for truth by each of our citizens."

"We have only to look at the countries behind the iron curtain to see the ultimate fate of that nation which frustrates and crushes the search for truth. To preserve freedom we must continue to cherish free discussion and the free dissemination of facts."
